AQUA BE MAGNOLIA.—The prettiest thing, the "sweetest thing," and the most of it for the least money. It overcomes the odor of perspiration; softens and adds delicacy to the skin; is a delightful perfume; allays headache and inflammation, and is a necessary companion in the sick-room, in the nursery, and upon the toilet sideboard. It can be obtained everywhere at one dollar per bottle.

S. T.—1860.—X.—The amount of Plantation Bitters sold in one year is something startling. They would fill Broadway six feet high, from the Park to 4th street.—Drake's manufactory is one of the institutions of N. York. It is said that Drake painted all the rocks in the eastern States with his calebistic "S. T.—1860.—X," and then got the old granny legislators to pass a law "preventing disfiguring the face of nature," which gives him a monopoly. We do not know how this is, but we do know the Plantation Bitters sell as no other article ever did. They are used by all classes of the community, and are death on Dyspepsia—certain. They are very invigorating when languid and weak, and a great appetizer.

"In lifting the kettle from the fire I scalded myself very severely—one hand almost to a crisp. The torture was intolerable. * * * The Mexican Mustang Liniment relieved the pain almost immediately. It heals rapidly, and left very little scar.

CHAS. FOSTER, 420 Broad st., Philada."

This is merely a sample of what the Mustang Liniment will do. It is invaluable in all cases of wounds, swellings, sprains, cuts, bruises, sparins, etc., either upon man or beast.

Beware of counterfeits. None is genuine unless wrapped in fine steel plate engravings, bearing the signature of G. W. Westbrook, Chemist, and the private stamp of DEMAS BARNES & Co., New York.

All who value a beautiful head of hair, and its preservation from premature baldness and turning gray, will not fail to use Lyon's celebrated Kathairon. It makes the hair rich, soft and glossy, eradicates dandruff, and causes the hair to grow with luxuriant beauty. It is sold everywhere. E. THOMAS LYON, Chemist, N. Y.

WHAT DID IT?—A young lady, returning to her country home after a sojourn of a few months in New York, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a rustic, flushed face, she had a soft, ruby complexion, of almost marble smoothness; and instead of 22, she really appeared but 17. She told them plainly she used Hagan's Magnolia Balm, and would not be without it. Any lady can improve her personal appearance very much by using this article. It can be ordered of any Druggist for only 50 cents.

Heimstreet's Inimitable Hair Coloring has been steadily growing in favor for over twenty years. It acts upon the absorbents at the roots of the hair, and changes it to its original color by degrees. All instantaneous dyes darken and injure the hair. Heimstreet's is not a dye, but is certain in its results, promotes its growth, and is a beautiful Hair Dressing. Price 50 cents and $1,00. Sold by all dealers.

Saratoga Spring Water, sold by all Druggists.

LYON'S EXTRACT OF PURE JAMAICA GINGER—for Indigestion, Nausea, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Cholera Morbus, &c., where a warming, genial stimulant is required. Its careful preparation and entire purity make it a cheap and reliable article for culinary purposes. Sold everywhere at 50 cents per bottle.

THE CART BEFORE THE HORSE.

Oh, for some deep, secluded dell,
Where brick and mortar life may cease;
To sit down in a spot of grease,
No—no I mean a grot of peace.

I'd choose a home by Erin's wave,
With not a sound to mar life's lot,
I'd by the cannon have a shot—
No—by the Shannon have a cot.

How fair that rocky isle around,
That wild expanse to scan it o'er.
I love a shiver with a roar—
I mean a river by the shore.

Romantic Erin's sea-girt land,
How sweet with one you love the most,
To watch the cock upon the roast—
I mean the rocks upon the coast.

How sweet, at moonlight's mystic hour,
To wander forth where few frequent,
To come upon a tipsy gent—
No—no I mean a gipsy tent,

In that retirement love, I would
Pursue some rustic industry,
And make myself a boiling tea—
No—no—I mean a toiling bee.

Beneath a shady sycamore,
How sweet to lisp love's tender vow,
Your dear one bitten by a sow—
No—I mean sitting by a bough.

Or sweet with your fond wife to sit
Outside your door at daylight's close,
While she's hard hitting at your nose;
I mean hard knitting at your hose.

Perhaps on early cares you brood,
While sympathy on her sweet face shows;
'Tis good to walk upon one's toes—
I mean to talk upon one's woes.

Ah! still you watch that fairy shape,
A summer dress which does adorn,
Admiring much her laugh of scorn—

A Queer Courtship.

The period of courtship is not always a time of romance and affection as may be supposed. If the wooer is a romantic sort of a chap and the wooed a sentimental damsel, then in such a case there are many hours of ecstacy and bliss enjoyed by two loving hearts. But it takes all kinds of people to make up the world, and it is not to be supposed that everybody who indulges in the bliss of courting is disposed to look upon love making as a period of enjoyment. No, not much. An illustration of this fact occurred which we cannot forbear relating.

In a small country town in Hartford county a widower who had acted the part of brute and tyrant to his wife, went shortly after the demise of his spouse to pay his respects to a buxom widow, who like her suitor, had not the best reputation for suavity of manners and meekness of temper. The following colloquy ensued:

"Well, madam, I come to see you."

"Well, you may just clear out again, for I'll have nothing to do with you. You needn't think to get me. You abused and whipped your first wife—and I know what kind of a fellow you are. You can bet high on that."

"Yes, I did, and if I had you I'd make you toe the mark. I'd give you a d—d good thrashing every time you deserved it, and I wouldn't let you vote if every woman in town ran to the polls with ballot in hand."

Strange as it may appear, this very loving and romantic couple were united in the "holy bands of padlock" three days afterwards.

"Was ever woman in this humor wooed?
Was ever woman in this humor won?"
We think not.—Hartford Post.

☞A Parisian journal propounded, as an intellectual exercise for its subscribers, the invention of a suitable definition for "the sex," and received an immense quantity of answers. Here are some of them:

"A woman is a necessity, which Providence has converted into an enjoyment."

"Definition geometrical—Woman is a polygon, for she has many sides, good and bad."

"It is a being who has not the soul in the body, but the body in the soul."

"A woman's a being capable of experiencing sensations, but sentiments never."

"At a distance, a rose without a thorn; approached, a thorn without a rose."

"Women fill up the intervals in conversation and in life like the down placed in glass boxes; we reckon the down as nothing, yet everything would break to pieces without it."

"The woman of worth is the woman who knows how to be distinguished with a toilet of two louis as much as with a thousand crowns."

"The woman of the world is she who is enough so never to be obliged to announce in what circle she moves."

"It is she who feels at home wherever she finds herself."

KILLING OLD NICK.—A young girl from the country, lately on a visit to a Mr. H., a Quaker, was prevailed on to accompany him to a meeting. It happened to be a silent one, none of the brethren being moved by the spirit to utter a syllable. When Mr. H., left the meeting-house with his young friend he asked her:

"How dost thee like the meeting?"

To which she pettishly replied:

"Like it! Why I can't see no sense in it. To go and sit for whole hours without speaking a word! it is enough to kill Old Nick."

"Yes, my dear," rejoined the Quaker, "that is just what we want."

Temperance Topics.

Wonderful Discovery.

The discovery has just been made by Governor Andrew, of Boston, that total abstinence tends to enervate mind and body.

In that remarkable speech—remarkable for its sophistry—which he delivered in behalf of license before the Massachusetts legislative committee on temperance, he closes by saying: "Independent of other obligations, there is reason to fear that the offspring of those who abstain entirely from fermented drinks become, in a generation or two, enervated in mind and body." Terrible thought! And he adds: "It is probably in this last-mentioned manner that the decadence of the different Mohammedan nations and races is to be accounted for; at least, in part."

We would recommend the governor—if his devotion to the liquor traffic will allow—to study physiology, and read up history a little more than he seemingly has done, before he again makes another address in its behalf.

We had thought that, whatever else might be said against total abstinence, it was too late in the day to affirm that total abstinence was physically and mentally deteriorating.

The injunction given to the mother of Samson, that neither herself nor her child should drink "wine or strong drink," was intended, we thought, to instruct future ages, and to point out what science and history have since demonstrated, that debility of body would be the result of either parents or children drinking fermented liquors, or indulging in luxury. And we had supposed that, while the laws of the Nazarite associated total abstinence and purity together, the remarkable strength of Samson taught that health, bodily vigor, and entire abstinence from intoxicating poisons were most intimately connected.

Has the governor never read of a nation for whose sustenance miraculous provision was made for forty years, and whose beverage during all that time was only water; and that the children which were brought up in these principles of total abstinence became the most moral and valiant of the Israelites that have existed from that day to this? or how that the ancient Britons were noted for their fine, athletic form, for the great strength of their bodies, and for being swift of foot; how they excelled in running, swimming, wrestling, climbing, and all kinds of bodily exercise; and their drink was water? Could one of these fine, athletic men rise from the dead, and look at the present sickly, nervous, deformed, dwarfish, pale-faced, or bloated, sluggish inhabitants of that island, surely he would not conclude that wine, gin, or strong beer had improved its inhabitants in stature, comeliness, or vigor.

The Vedas, or sacred book of the Indians, forbid the use of wine, and yet these Indians surpass Europeans in strength and capacity to endure fatigue. Mr. Buckingham, the traveler, says, "that the wrestlers and quoit-players of upper Hindostan are among the most muscular and powerful men he had ever seen, before whom the strongest European would quail;" yet these persons drink nothing stronger than water.

The Koran enjoins on the followers of Mohammed total abstinence from wine, and a very large number of his disciples rigidly adhere to this injunction, especially in Arabia; and yet these men and women are among the strongest and finest people upon earth. The conquest of the Saracens were in a great measure owing to their abstinence; and no sooner did they begin to relax in their obedience to this command of the prophet than they began to degenerate and succumb to their enemies. The Turks, before their conversion to Mohammedanism, drank water or milk; yet Seljuk, the father of the Seljukian dynasty, lived to be 170 years old: and scarcely was there a throne in Asia, Europe, or Africa, but tottered before the power of his abstinent son.

The Circassians are allowed by all to be the most beautiful and handsome people upon the earth; the men are tall, and very strong; and the beauty of Circassian women has been celebrated for ages; yet these fine people are distinguished for their strict observance of the principle of total abstinence.

The Rechabites, mentioned by Jeremiah, abstained entirely from wine and strong drink, and to this day observe the total abstinence principle which they received from their father; and while other nations have passed away and are now no more, the Rechabites still exist as a monument of God's blessing and protection.

Eye witnesses assure us that those South Sea Islanders who drink nothing stronger than water would be fine models for a statuary, whereas those of them who drink inebriating liquors become mere skeletons. Mr. Mempriss, author of Scripture Charts, etc., states that, when he was purser on board a convict ship, they took out to Botany Bay nearly 300 females in one vessel. These convicts were allowed no other beverage than water, while the crew had their regular allowance of grog. On landing at Sydney, all the convicts were in perfect health, and no case of serious illness nor any death had occurred among them during the entire voyage, which occupied seven months. Of the crew, some died on the passage, and of the remainder several were reported sick on landing. This is an important testimony in favor of total abstinence, because the individuals on whom the experiment was made had lived very irregular lives before; and, during these seven months, must have been exposed to a great variety of climate.

One more witness, and we leave the governor; Cæsar, speaking of the Suevi, says that "they were by far the greatest and most powerful in war of all the nations of Germany;" their beverage was water or milk. And he adds: "Wine they do not admit at all to be imported among them, because they believe that by it men are enervated, made effeminate, and incapable of enduring labor." The judgments of these Suevi accord exactly with the facts of history. The nations were powerful in proportion as they were abstinent, and became effeminate in proportion as they indulged in inebriating liquors. Babylon and Nineveh might have been saved by teetotalism; it was drunkenness that corrupted them, and made them an easy prey to their enemies. The Persians only ceased to be victors when they ceased to be abstainers, and the vices they adopted made them an easy prey to their enemies. Fermented drinks shivered the first empire which Alexander commanded and called his own. Rome conquered the world by the valor of her abstinent heroes; but luxury and intemperance paralyzed the energies of her citizens, reduced her to a state of dependency on the hordes of teetotal barbarians that dwelt on her frontiers. And unless we as a nation awake from this debasing vice, America, in some future age, will add another awful example to warn empires and individuals against the use of intoxicating drinks. We now have history, science, and every sort of information to induce us to be wise in time; and should we be sufficiently prudent to dash from our lips the poisonous cup, and sweep the accursed leaven or ferment from our houses and from the land, we then shall be safe and happy. But if, deaf to every admonition of God, science, and history, we follow the teachings of Gov. Andrew, and still continue, by our moderate use of fermented drinks—as he styles it—to manufacture drunkards out of our sons, daughters, relations, friends, and neighbors, then, as we look at the ruins of Nineveh or Babylon, we may read our own doom, future degradation and ruin.—Temperance Advocate.

Finding Fault with Children.

It is at times necessary to censure and punish. But much more may be done by encouraging children when they do well. Be therefore, more careful to express your approbation of good conduct, than your disapprobation of bad. Nothing can more discourage a child than a spirit of its parent. And hardly anything can exert a more injurious influence upon the disposition both of parents and child. There are two great motives influencing human actions—hope and fear. Both of these are at times necessary. But who would not prefer to have her child influenced to good conduct by a desire of pleasing rather than by the fear of offending? If a mother never expresses her gratification when her children do well, and is always censuring them when she sees anything amiss, they are discouraged and unhappy. They feel that it is useless to try to please. Their dispositions become hardened and soured by this ceaseless fretting, and at last, finding that whether they do well or ill, they are equally found fault with, they relinquish all efforts to please, and become heedless of reproaches. But let a mother approve of her child's conduct whenever she can. Let her reward him for his efforts to please, by smiles and affection. In this way she will cherish in her child's heart some of the noblest and most desirable feelings of her nature. She will cultivate an amiable disposition and cheerful spirit. Your child has been through the day very pleasant and obedient. Just before putting him to sleep for the night, you take his hand and say:—"My son, you have been very good to day. It makes me very happy to see you so kind and obedient. God loves children who are dutiful to their parents, and he promises to make them happy?" This approbation from his mother is to him a great reward. And when, with a more than affectionate tone, you say, "Good night, my dear son," he leaves the room with his little heart full of feeling. And when he closes his eyes for sleep, he is happy, and resolves that he will always try do his duty.—The Mother at Home.

THOUGHTS OF HOME.—"Let me tell you a little incident that happened to me this evening," said a soldier in Louisiana: "I had been out all day on the skirmish line; all was quiet. I had not heard the singing of a bullet for sometime. I was sitting on the ground with my rifle across my knees, thinking of home and friends far away—wondering what the future had in store for me, and if I should ever see that home again. As I sat thus, a little bird, called the Baltimore oriole, perched himself on a bush so close to me that I might have touched him easily with my rifle, and soon commenced singing. The voice of this bird is much like that of our robin, and he is about the same size, though his color is different, being dark red. The poor little fellow had been driven away through the day by the shower of bullets that visited that quarter, but had returned to visit his home, and seemed now to be returning thanks to God for his safe return. And so, thought I, my case may be like the little bird. After this struggle is over, I may return to my friends at home. I accepted the omen, thanked God for his watchful care over me, and, with renewed courage and hope, pressed on."—Frank Moore's Anecdotes.

According to a lady correspondent, an infusion of horseradish in milk makes one of the safest and best cosmetics.

At one of the schools in Chicago the inspector asked the children if they could give any text of the Scripture which forbade a man having two wives. One of the children sagely quoted in reply the text, "No man can serve two masters."

Deposit one cent in bank, double the amount deposited weekly for one year, as, one cent the first week, two cents the second week, four cents the third week, and so on for the fifty-two—what do you think the amount would be at the end of year? Figure it up boys, and see.

Should all the animals except the cow die, the loss could be borne. Should she alone die, you would have mourning. She should be treated as tenderly as one's wife. Keep her clean, feed her well, and respect her. Think of a cow standing all night in a fence corner, and her back covered with ice and snow.

Florida produces lemons that weigh over a pound and are twelve inches in circumference. These mammoth lemons are obtained in East Florida and on the Southern coast islands by grafting the lemon cutting on the native sour orange tree. The fruit is equal in flavor to the best West India lemon.

The liquor law seems to be in full force in Maine. On Monday night five thousand dollars worth of smuggled liquors and spices were seized at Portland. A grocer in Augusta was arrested and fined for selling one glass of new cider. After the first week in June all similar offences will be punished by imprisonment.

That was a beautiful idea in the mind of a little girl who, on beholding a rosebud, on the topmost stem of which the oldest rose was fading whilst below and around it three beautiful crimson buds were just unfolding their charms at once, and earnestly exclaimed to her brother:—"See, William, those little buds have just awakened in time to kiss their mother before she dies."

Some liquor seized by the State constables in Middlesex county, Mass., was analyzed a short time since, and on a bottle which was lettered in gilt "D. Brandy, thirty cents per glass," the chemist placed the following label: "Unable to decide what the manufacturer intended to imitate; it contains more or less camphene." He also added as a private mark a scull and cross bones.

In New York, they say, the extreme liveliness of our sacred music occasionally affords some strange occurrences. A recent operatic performance in one of the first class churches came near being encored, and the solo performer called out an enthusiastic worshipper, who forgot his place and thought he was in front of the foot-lights. On another occasion the performance was so exciting that it is said a gentleman undertook "to walk a figure" in the aisle.

At Jacksonville Illinois last summer, a young lady took a vial of chloroform to her bed with her one night, to quiet the toothache. Next morning she was found apparently dead, and after the lapse of the usual time was buried. A few days ago the remains were exhumed for removal to another cemetery. On opening the coffin the corpse was found turned over, both hands full of her hair, the grave clothing torn, and all appearances indicating that the unfortunate lady had awakened from a trance to find herself buried alive.

Incombustible dresses are easily and cheaply attained, yet few ladies understand the process. Either of three substances—phosphate of ammonia, tungstate of soda, and sulphate of ammonia—can be mixed in the starch, and, at the cost of one penny a dress, deaths from fire can be rendered in point of fact impossible. Articles of apparel subjected to those agents can, if they burn at all, only smoulder, and in no case can they blaze up in a sudden and terrible manner in which so many fatal accidents have occurred to the fair wearers of crinoline.

Of the great expedition against the Indians we have this information:—It is composed of sixteen hundred men commanded by Gen. Hancock in person. Gen. A. J. Smith commands the troops, which consists of the 7th United States Cavalry, under command of Lieutenant Colonel and Brevet Major General George A. Custar; 37th infantry, commanded by Caption John Rziha; battery B, 4th United States Artillery, Captain Parsons commanding, and also a corps of Engineer under Lieutenant Micha Brown. General Davidson accompanies the expedition as Inspector General.

Lucy Stone in Kansas, and Elizabeth Cady in New York, are actively stumping for female suffrage. In Lucy's stumping ground the question is already fairly submitted to the people as a constitutional amendment in connection with negro suffrage. Elizabeth, however, has a harder task to have the new Constitution made to her liking. None of the progressive females have yet opened the campaign in Wisconsin. Lucy takes her husband, Dr. Blackwell, along, but adheres to her maiden name. This has made considerable trouble with hotel clerks, who have persisted in giving the lady and gentleman separate rooms; the clerk at Topeka plainly informed the Doctor, who objected to this arrangement, that "we don't do business in that way."

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday morning, May 8, 1867.

WM. LEWIS,
HUGH LINDSAY, } EDITORS.

"I know of no mode in which a loyal citizen may so well demonstrate his devotion to his country as by sustaining the Flag the Constitution and the Union, under all circumstances, and UNDER EVERY ADMINISTRATION REGARDLESS OF PARTY POLITICS, AGAINST ALL ASSAILANTS, AT HOME AND ABROAD."—STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS.

☞ Many persons say business is dull and times are hard, simply because they contrast the more quiet movements and the slower gains of the present with the unnatural activity and the inordinate profits of war times. The man who made one hundred thousand dollars in the year of 1864 thinks times are very dull now, because he makes this year, perhaps, only half that amount; when very probably in any year before the war he would have been amply content with such a business as he is now doing. The fact is, there was so much speculation during the war, fortunes were made so rapidly and easily, and business of all kinds was transacted on such an inflated scale, that men have hardly yet regained their senses, and find it extremely difficult and irksome to return to the old order of things.

"'WENONOUS'—The attempt of the Globe to implicate our Congressman in an arrangement for the post office here. This insinuation amounts to about as much as any thing else emanating from that source."—Journal & American.

Not quite so fast, Mr. Nash & Co. Your wholesale attempt to cover up your tracks is played out in this neighborhood. If Mr. Morrel had nothing to do with the post office arrangement for this place why did you represent to the candidates that you had instructions from him to make the best arrangements with them you could—and any one you would name would be confirmed. Did you not demand from Mr. Miller $500 to secure his confirmation? You might have done it with one as anxious to turn a penny, at the sacrifice of principle, as yourself. If you, in your haste to make a "ten strike" were foolish enough to "blow" on a friend, that is your fault, not ours. To get out of a very unpleasant standing with your friends, don't "go back" on yourself. Stand by the truth at all times and you will be respected for that at least.

The York Republican, Radical to the backbone, thus discourses in regard to the shameful character of the last Legislature:

"We desire 'nothing to extenuate, and set down naught in malice;' and 'with charity to all,' but demanding inflexible fidelity to the people from their official representatives, we hold it to be our duty as conductor of a public journal—even though the work be voluntary and gratuitous—to set down matters just as they present themselves to our observation and judgment. The late Legislature cannot afford to be charged with more than it deserves. It is precisely in the position of the trembling culprit before the bar of the criminal court, who, being assured by the Judge that he should receive justice, replied, 'Shure, that is just what I am afraid of, your honor!' The members were very dear at $2,560 each. The people can parody the sentimental song and say,

"Though false to trust, to pockets dear."

If Republican and Democratic papers generally would talk thus plain, members of the Legislature of both parties would be more honest, or be sure never to be returned. A divide of the stealings is sufficient to close the eyes and the mouths of some party organs to the corruptions of office-holders.

WHO IS TO BLAME?—There is on the part of the corrupt legislator a baseness which is peculiar. The position he occupies is a fiduciary one. He has solicited and accepted a public trust. He is bound to conduct himself in it, not for his own private ends, but for the public good. When, therefore, he turns aside from the legitimate path of a popular representative, and is controlled in his actions by motives of personal gain—when he pollutes his hands with a bribe, he descends to a very ignominious depth of crime. He has outraged the rights of society far more grossly than does the ordinary thief, the burglar, or the counterfeiter, for he has violated a most sacred trust, and has prostituated an honorable public position to the most dishonorable onds.

And just here is the inconsistency of society, that while the thief, the burglar, and the counterfeiter are kicked out of all decent companionship, and made to feel that they have lost all standing among the virtuous and the respectable, the corrupt legislator, notorious as such, apparently loses nothing socially by his dishonorable and debasing career. We say apparently, for there must be in every honest man's bosom a feeling of infinite contempt for the wretch; but to all external appearance he comes and goes among his fellow-men as much respected and honored as ever.

This thing ought to be changed. Society ought to put the seal of its public disapprobation upon such villany, and make it socially as disreputable as are the more ordinary and less guilty class of crimes. But to do this society itself must be more pure, and must cease its idolatry at the shrine of Mammon. As long as wealth atones for everything in the public eye, the root of the difficulty will remain to throw up new shoots as fast as we cut down the old ones.—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

The Registers for the District of Columbia have recorded 7,664 colored votes, and 7,077 white votes.

SUPREME JUDGE.—Horace, the knowing correspondent of the Franklin Repository, from Harrisburg, writes as follows upon the present situation as regards the candidates for Chief Justice. Although it looks very favorably for Huntingdon yet the political wire-pullers may change things considerably:

"It is now well settled that Judge Sharswood, of Philadelphia, will be the Democratic candidate for Supreme Judge. He has been formally waited upon by anumber of leading Democrats and has given his consent to run. Already a number of the leading Democratic journals have declared for him, and he will be nominated by acclamation. A feeble effort has been made, and is still being made, to re-nominate ex-Chief Justice Lowrie, of Pittsburg; but it has little popular support, and will soon give way entirely before the predetermined purpose of the leaders to present Judge Sharswood. You may, therefore, set it down that he will be the nominee, and the wise politicians on the Republican side, will at once appreciate the fact that he is the strongest man the broken column of Democracy could rally around. He is an able, upright judge, personally popular, and, whatever may have been his convictions, he has made no record, either judicially or otherwise, against the government during the late rebellion. On the Republican side there is no concentration of opinion in favor of any particular candidate. Judge Pearson would doubtless be nominated but for his age. He is deemed too old to place on the court of last resort for a term of fifteen years. He is one of our ablest and purest judges, but a younger man will be sought for. If John Scott, of Huntingdon, would accept the position, he would be nominated; but he is not a candidate, and I learn would not allow the use of his name. Judge Taylor, of the same place, is strongly urged, as is Judge Linn, of Centre, and Judge Butler, of Chester, and various others on the Common Pleas bench; but I look for the choice to fall upon either Taylor or Linn. Either would make a strong candidate, and a most acceptable judge."

A National Home for Invalid Soldiers.

It will be a subject of gratification to the soldiers and the soldiers friends to learn that an effort is being made to erect a national home for Invalid soldiers at Gettysburg. We call attention to the advertisement of the Gettysburg Asylum for Invalid Soldiers, and herewith publish a notice of this benevolent enterprize, taken from the Philadelphia Press, of the 28th ult:

"Measures are now in hand which are calculated, after the lapse of a few months, to establish, on a grand scale, the desideratum—a National home for Invalid soldiers. The design is an admirable one, and is as follows:—It is well known that all efforts to obtain voluntary subscriptions sufficient to erect a Soldiers' home have been without avail. In furtherance of the object, however, the Legislature of Pennsylvania have passed an act dated March 6, 1867, creating a corporation of which Major-Gen. Geo. G. Meade is President, and Gen. Horatio G. Sickels is Treasurer, with an efficient board of supervisors, who have the power to distribute to the holders of certificates a large number of immensely valuable gifts, consisting of diamonds, pearls, emeralds, rubies, &c., purchased from citizens of the Southern States during the rebellion, and which articles will soon be exhibited in this city. By this scheme it is confidently anticipated a large fund will be created towards the erection of the Home. A great feature of the affair consists in the fact that every purchaser of the certificates becomes a contributor to this National Home fund, and at the same time has a direct interest in the distribution of the rare gems mentioned above. The details of the entire scheme will be conducted in a perfectly fair and honorable manner. The site for the Home has already been purchased, and consists of thirty acres of land, used by General Meade during the battle of Gettysburg as his headquarters. The plan has been approved by ex-Governor Curtin, Major Gen. Meade, Governor Geary, and a large number of prominent military heroes."

☞ The Albany Journal, without denying the charge of corruption brought against the Legislature, maintains it should not even if true, be made by Republican journals. Whereupon the N. Y. Times remarks, if this is the decipline that is to prevail, "then the office of a party organ is a post much more contemptible than any honorable man ought to be asked or expected to fill." The Tribune, backed by the Union League, reverses the position; because the charge is true it holds all the more pressing is the duty to expose corruption, and call on the people to apply the remedy. Otherwise the party will be made to bear the odium that properly attaches to the corruptionists. Which is the better organ, the journal that denounces, or the one that seeks to hide corruption? At Harrisburg, as at Albany, there is a Republican journal which would stifle expression—thus give perpetual license to the corruptionists, and make the party bear the odium. Without a word of rebuke for those who sell their votes, it manifests great concern for the "honest men" who will suffer from a repetition of the charge. Rogues, ever since the world began, have attempted to hide behind honest men—a trick they will avail themselves of just as long as the hush policy can be enforced. But honest men have nothing to fear from the exposure of corruption in the Legislature, and the interest which the rogues manifest for them is the evidence of how much they fear their own rascality will be exposed. The time has come, however, for the sifting process, and it is to be hoped that at least a majority of the rogues will, in future, be compelled to remain outside the State Capitol.—Pittsburg Commercial.

A gentleman in Hartford, Connecticut, has had manufactured to order a veritable wooden nutmeg. It is made from the bark of the Charter Oak, and is so complete an imitation that it actually deceived a dealer in the article, who offered the market price for a cargo of the sort.

The receipts of Internal Revenue for the week were $6,890,351 49. Disbursements for the week $4,896,362.

The Nevada State Prison was destroyed by fire on the 1st inst. None of the prisoners escaped from custody.

Four thousand bushels of California wheat was purchased in Philadelphia, during the past week, says the Commercial List, at $3 40 per bushel, for shipment to Pittsburgh.

A cable dispatch states that the Emperor of Brazil has abolished slavery throughout his dominions. Children are to attain freedom on reaching the age of twenty-one.

Seventy thousand Germans, it is said, have engaged passage by steam to the United States. The new Prussian conscription laws are driving many to our country.

A fire at Rochester, N. Y., Saturday morning, destroyed property to the amount of $100,000. Three persons are known to have been buried in the ruins, and it is feared others perished.

The wife of President Juarez was present at a reception given by Secretary Seward to the diplomatic corps, on Saturday evening. She is said to have attracted as much attention as the Japanese Embassadors.

The Mobile colored convention unanimously resolved that it is the undoniable right of negroes to hold office, sit on juries, ride in all public conveyances, sit at public tables, and visit places of public amusement.

Justice is in danger in Texas. A Judge of that State writes that no Court will be held in his county this spring, because the Indians have stolen all the horses, and neither lawyers nor clients can procure conveyances.

Robert Toombs, of Georgia, has recently written a letter accepting the situation, saying: "No true patriot South will forsake his native land. Let us remain here and endeavor by the favor of God to build up our waste places."

An unusual mortality prevails among the Vermont lambs. Some of the most experienced sheep raisers are the greatest losers. The rot also prevails among the sheep. One farmer in Kirby has lost 57 since March set in from this disease.

Elevator A, on 16th street, Chicago, belonging to Armour, Dole & Co., was destroyed by fire on Saturday. Loss $200,000, fully insured. Six firemen were buried in the ruins, three of whom were rescued but little injured, the others being dead.

Meterological records kept at Sitka in Russian America, by the Russian Government, are said to show at that place, in latitude 57.03 degrees, the springs, summers and autumns are colder, but the winters are warmer than in Philadelphia. It is well known that the climate of the Pacific coast is much milder than in the same latitudes along the Atlantic border.

The New York Evening Gazette tells young ladies what to beware of if they would have a fresh, healthy and youthful appearance: "Late hours, large crinoline, tight corsets, confectionery, hot bread, cold draughts, pastry, decollette dress, modern novels, furnace registers, easy carriages, late suppers, thin shoes, fear of knowledge, nibbling between meals, ill-temper, haste to marry, dread of growing old."

There is little change in the aspect of affairs in Chicago. Work has been partially resumed in some establishments. No work of consequence is being done at either railroad shops or freight depots. Resolutions were adopted by the strikers Saturday night, insisting on eight hours as a legal day's work, and expressing their willingness to accept eight hours' pay for eight hours' labor.

Correspondents and others traveling in the South say that it is a common thing, in almost every State they passed through, to see white women laboring in the fields. This is one of the most marked and conclusive evidences of an inferior grade of civilization. No women North could be found, unless it were among the commonest class of German emigrants—who would drive ploughs or hoe out corn and sugar.

Several years ago a political convention in a New England State nominated a quiet well-to-do farmer for the office of Lieutenant Governor. The nominee graciously received the committee appointed to wait upon him at his residence, and after expressing his thanks for the honor conferred upon him, informed the committee that he had peculiar qualifications for Lieutenant Governor, "for gentlemen" said he, "that is just the office I have held in my house for the past twenty-five years."

Notwithstanding the contradictory character of the news from Mexico, enough of the truth is known here to make it evident that the Empire is at an end, and that Maximilian will be fortunate if he succeeds in escaping the toils of the liberals with a whole skin. The moment Juarez occupies the city of Mexico, Minister Campbell will be instructed to go thither, and the recognition of the Liberals as the constitutional government of Mexico will be continued, despite the efforts made there to force the claims of Ortega upon the notice of the administration.

THE WOOL INTEREST.—The growth and manufacture of wool is one of the branches of industry that has grown immensely during the last few years in the United States. Both in quality of the wool and the excellence of the articles made from it, the manufacturers of this article will compare favorably with a large portion of the foreign importations, and it is reasonable to expect that ere long we will be able to rival to the finest woolen fabrics produced in Europe. Duridg the year 1866 the wool growth in the United States amounted to 137,000,000 pounds. We have 1,600 woolen mills, containing 65,000 sets of carding machines, which are capable of working up 170,000 pounds of the raw material.

☞ Tanning with chestnut wood has been introduced to the notice of "La Halle aux Curis," of Paris, by J. Algetiere, Jr., a tanner at Lyons. He claims that the tanning obtained from this source instead of the bark, makes leather of peculiar fineness, uniformity and excellence of color, and superior quality in all respects as compared with the best oak tanned.

SEWING MACHINES

Are now in use and their yearly sales double all others combined.

The rise and fall of numberless machines, heralded as "superior to all others," has convinced the public that it is safer to buy a good article of established reputation and from responsible parties, than to risk their money in doubtful experiment.

These Machines have MORE IMPROVEMENTS, MAKE LESS NOISE, are MUCH MORE SPEEDY and SIMPLE in operation than any Machine in the market. An examination solicited before making a purchase elsewhere.

—The postage on drop letters is one cent and not two, as many suppose.

—There will be preaching in the German Reformed Church of this place on next Sunday evening.

—It is a very encouraging prospect to behold the number of new dwellings, and other improvements, in Old Huntingdon. Old fogyism is squirming.

—A dwelling house, belonging to a Mr. Vipond, situated on Brush mountain, Blair county, took fire from the stovepipe and was burned down.

—The pocket case of surgical instruments and medicine case, belonging to Dr. Brumbaugh, which were lost last week, have been found.

—Mr. Ellis Snyder, a brakeman on the local freight, had one of his heels seriously injured at Mapleton, last week, by being caught by a wheel.

—It is feared that the freezing weather which we have had for the past two or three weeks has injured the fruit in this and other sections.

—There has been a change of schedule of the Broad Top railroad, which went into operation on Monday. See change in another column.

—A corps of engineers is said to be at work surveying routes with a view to the shortening of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

—It has been decided to hold the State Fair on the ground of the East Pennsylvania Agricultural and Mechanical Society at Norristown. It will take place in September next.

—A man named John Schatz was killed in the coal mines of the Cambria county Coal Co. on Saturday. He was undermining a pillar when a large body of coal fell on him and completely covered him.

—The editor of the Lewistown Democrat is debating with himself whether to cut down his advertisements or enlarge his paper. No enterprising publisher ought to hesitate in such a matter.

—In another column will be found the list of retailers in Huntingdon county, with the amount of tax paid by each. It is hardly necessary to state that the figures present a larger total than at any previous period in the history of Huntingdon county.

—A landslide occurred on Tuesday night last near Wilmore, Cambria county, on the Pennsylvania railroad, and threw the fast line from Pittsburg, off the track. Jacob Gilman, express messenger, had his leg broken, and was otherwise injured.

—The Hollidaysburg Whig says:—Nearly all of Tuesday last was taken up by our Court in examining petitions for tavern licenses, and listening to remonstrances. All the licenses were finally granted except two in this place and five in Altoona.

—The Internal Revenue Bureau has decided that compulsory assessments for grading, paving, flagging, sewerage, &c., imposed by municipal corporations, and actually paid by the tax-payer within the year for which income tax is payable, may be deducted from income.

—Solomon says: "There is that scattereth and yet increaseth, and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth to poverty." Time is money; give your business publicity, and as much may oftentimes be accomplished in a few days as would otherwise require weeks and months of time, with labor and expense in proportion.

—Let our friends who have apple orchards, or even single apple trees, remember that the planting of a tomato vine near the trees will keep the borers away. The beetle, which deposits her eggs during the summer months upon the bark of the tree, near the ground, shuns every tree near which a tomato plant grows.

—Our borough can congratulate itself upon having an energetic and enterprising set of Councilmen. We flatter ourself with the assurance that before their administration comes to a close, they will do much in improving the public property. And this is right; for if private individuals can contribute their share in making the town show to advantage, why can't the public authorities do the same.

—A haversack, containing photographs, gold and steel pens, a diary, a conductor's account book, a yearly pass on the Penna. Railroad issued to John C. Everhart, $200 in U. S. bonds, and some small change, was picked up in Half Moon Valley, not long ago.—Some of the articles have been identified by Mr. Ewing, of Franklinville, this county, from whose store they were stolen.

The Base Ball Nuisance.

The season for this game has again opened, and we may expect the usual complaints from persons who have young men and boys in their employ. Amusement and exercise should be encouraged, but when base ball playing is "run in the ground," as was the case almost everywhere last year, it becomes a nuisance.

Meeting of the Huntingdon Bar.

There was a full attendance of the members of the Huntingdon Bar, at 10 o'clock, A. M., on Monday the 29th of April ult., to pay the usual mark of respect to the memory of ADIN W. BENEDICT, Esq., who died from their midst full of years and full of honors, when John G. Miles, Esq., was called to the chair, and R. Bruce Petrikin, Esq., was appointed Secretary.

On motion of John Williamson, Esq., the chair appointed Samuel T. Brown, R. M. Speer and Wm. P. Orbison, a committee to draft resolutions expressive of the object of the meeting, who made the following report:

Recognizing in the sudden death of ADIN W. BENEDICT, Esq., a severe, social and professional loss, and bowing in sad submission to this stroke of Providence, we do Resolve;

First. That the Bar has lost in the death of Mr. Benedict, a courteous and able member, and society a useful and upright citizen.

Second. That we will cherish the memory of our deceased brother, whose warm and generous impulses made him the friend of every member of the Bar, and whose public spirit as a citizen, and manly straight-forward conduct in practice is worthy of all invitation.

Third. That we tender to his sorrowing and stricken family, in their sore bereavement our sincere sympathy, feeling that no words of ours can lighten the grief of this sad affliction.

Fourth. That we will attend the funeral in a body and wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Fifth. That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the family of the deceased, and be published in all the newspapers of the county.

On motion of Mr. Dorris, the resolutions as reported were unanimously adopted.

On motion of Mr. Speer, J. Sewell Stewart, Esq., was requested to prepare for publication an obituary of said deceased. JOHN G. MILES, Prest.

Hard on the Cows.

We have always thought that of all the useful animals, the cow should be permitted to live the longest, and go down to its grave in peace; but it seems that Fate decrees otherwise, at least, it would appear so from the events of the past three weeks. We learn that during this time no less than six cows in this locality have been struck by locomotives, four of which were killed, and the others seriously injured. Why the cows go on the railroad, is hard to divine; and surely it is not that they want a ride, as the realization of a ride into eternity is not so pleasant as the anticipation of a ride to some place where the grass is longer. At this time of the year the grass makes its appearance sooner along the railroad, than at any other place, (so it is said,) and the cows which are turned out of the stable to hunt their feed, will instinctively go where the grass grows soonest.

The cows which have been lost in this manner were valuable, and the owners may expect compensation from the Company. We believe this will not be forthcoming, as the said Company have frequently notified owners of cattle that they will not be responsible for any accidents that may happen. Therefore, the best thing that could be done would be to dig ditches, or effect other arrangements which will prevent cows from taking to the tracks and being so suddenly taken off to cow heaven.

Acknowledged.

It is generally acknowledged by every person that they can buy goods at A. L. Lewis' Store, Leister's new building, Huntingdon, cheaper than any other store in the county. Give that man a trial and see if it is so. †

Resigned.

Our jovial friend Mr. John C. Carroll, who, for two years past has been employed in responsible positions on the Broad Top Railroad, and latterly as Conductor, has resigned, and, we understand, has been employed as Brakeman on a passenger on the Pennsylvania Central. We regret to part with John, but we hope that his most sanguine expectations in the way of success will be more than realized, as he is in every way deserving. We expect to hear from him often, which announcement will please many readers who admire his literary productions.

Mr. John Rahm has been appointed Conductor in lieu of Mr. Carroll.

IT don't pay to buy the cheapest—so many say who buy the best articles at fair prices at Lewis' Family Grocery.

Additional Pay for Officers.

Late officers of the army are entitled to an additional pay of five dollars per month for each servant kept by them from the 1st day of May, 1864, to the 3d day of March, 1865. The Department at Washington is ready to receive and adjust these claims, and MILTON S. LYTLE, Attorney at Law, and Licensed Claim Agent, Huntingdon, Pa., is prepared with the necessary blanks, &c., to make application.—Officers desiring these claims collected should address him. 2t†

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF GOOD TEMPLARS.—In 1851 this temperance organization, now so popular and so wide spread, had an obscure origin in one of the small towns in Western New York. For a few years after it was instituted little was heard of the society, but for the past twelve years its progress has been steadily onward, until it now has Grand Lodges in all the States of the Union but five, and also in all the British Provinces, with upwards of one million members, all pledged to total abstinence and prohibition. As an instance of the growth of the Order, we may mention that in 1863 there were less than thirty Lodges in Pennsylvania, now there are three hundred, and there are but six counties at present in our State without any Lodges, and to these the Grand Lodge lecturers have been directed to go and organize Lodges, so that the annual session of the Grand Lodge, which is to be held in Allegheny City, commencing June 13th, the Grand Lodge officers be able to report the Order established in every county. Rapid as has been the increase of the order in Pennsylvania, it has been equally successful in other States from Maine to California. The next session of the Grand Lodge will call together not less than five hundred delegates from the various Lodges of the State. Every Subordinate Lodge is entitled to send one representative, and every Lodge having one hundred members on the 30th of April two, one for each additional fifty members. The coming Grand Lodge session, owing to the great increase of the Order during the past year, will be one of great importance.

BEALE'S

Late Powell's Embrocation,

For all Diseases Incident to HORSES, CATTLE, and the HUMAN FLESH, Requiring the use of an External Application.

This new Compound, prepared by a practical Chemist having a full knowledge of all the medical virtues of each ingredient that enters into its composition, is warranted to exceed anything of the kind ever yet offered to the Public as an external application for the diseases for which it is recommended. We are satisfied that it will work its own road into the confidence of all who use it, and those who try it once will never be without it, and therefore we rely on experience as the best test of its usefulness. It is pronounced by Farriers, and all who have tried it to be the best application ever used. This Embrocation has been put up for over eight years, and it is only through the increasing demand and urgent request of my friends and the Public that I send it forth as the grand remedial agent for the various diseases to which that noble and useful animal, the horse, is subject.

Many remedies have been offered to the Public under different forms, some of these are injurious, others at best of little use, and many wholly improper to answer the purposes for which they are recommended.

A judicious and really useful composition, free from those objections, has therefore long been desired by many gentlemen who have valuable horses, and are unwilling to trust them to the care of designing and pretended Farriers. Their wishes are at length fully gratified, by Dr. Beale being prevailed upon to allow this valuable Embrocation (which has proved so efficacious in the various diseases) to be prepared and brought out to the public.

LATEST FASHIONS DEMAND

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent

Duplex Elliptic

or Double Spring,

SKIRT.

The wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, operas, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, arm chairs, for promenade and house dress, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any single spring skirt.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the duplex elliptic steel spring skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For children, misses and young ladies they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the single spring but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs, but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in crinoline, viz: superior quality, perfect manufacture, stylish shape and finish, flexibility, durability, comfort and economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or double spring skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against imposition be particular to notice that skirts offered as "Duplex" have the red ink stamp, viz: J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs' upon the waist band—none others are genuine. Also notice that every hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other spring.

For sale in all stores where first class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere.

Thoughts for the Farmer.

Raising Colts.

I usually wean my colts at from four to five months old, according to the time of year. If not worked the mare should be put on short grass and feed, and milked occasionally for two or three days. The colt should have a little oats partially ground, every day, and be entirely out of sight and hearing of its mother. Many are, I think, too careless of their colts at or about the time they are weaned. As far as my experience goes, I consider this the most important time in the colt's life, as far as his future health, size and disposition are concerned. If he is then neglected as to food and care, he will probably show it during the remainder of his life. If he is not already so, he should be immediately halter broken, and handled every day if possible, but on no account abused. He should be taught to mind, but rather through affection than through fear; if the latter is the cause, you never know when or how long he will obey you; but if from the farmer you may expect his obedience to last as long as the cause which produces it.

I am strongly opposed, both in principle and practice, to "breaking colts," that is, allowing them to attain the age of two or more years before they are taken in hand for learning the principles which so important a part in their future life. There should be no breaking about it. The education should begin as soon as the colt is born, and if perfectly attended to, will be perfect by the time he is large enough to drive.

Being led or tried with a halter should be the first lesson, and the sooner he learns it the shorter the struggle and the more permanent the lesson; never give him a chance to break loose, for once done, and he will remember it for a long time, and if the lesson be too often repeated, he will make a proficient in this not desirable art.

The outline of my plan may be thus given: "As soon as the colt is weaned he should have good feed and be handled every day, if possible; he should be coaxed rather than made by force to do anything. Never use a switch or the end of the halter strap. Be firm but not overbearing; it will be found better to overlook the fault than to attempt and fail to correct it; never lose your temper, for the moment you do so you at the same time lose the advantage which you should always have over him.

During the winter the colt should stand haltered the greater portion of the time, either in his stable or out in the open air—the latter for at least a portion of every day; use the curry-comb and brush freely. Remember you are forming the future horse, and care now taken either in his appearance or character is by no means lost. By the time he is a year old he should allow you to place light articles on his back without any resistance, and should be taught not to be afraid of straps hanging loose about the body or heels. The education should be continued during the second winter, and by the time he is two years old he will quietly permit himself to be harnessed up alongside of a quiet horse (his mother if possible) and driven about.

During the operation of halter breaking great care should be taken always to make him walk fast—fast walking should be a part of his education, and he will never forget it during his after life. I know of no colt which may not be made a good walker if properly trained when young, but this is a fast time, and walking is too slow to keep up with it.—Germantown Telegraph.

FOOLISH VIRGINS.—A few days since we were dining with a friend who had gathered a bevy of pretty girls around his hospitable board, and during the meal we received a lamentable evidence of the ignorance of our latter day young ladies of the first rudiments of making a man happy. We spoke of cabbage pudding, and heavens! what a flutter. Eight pretty hands clasped at once in holy horror; eight bright eyes turned up their whites in refined surprise, and eight rosy lips chorussed in refined disbelief, "Cabbage pudding! who ever heard of such a thing?"

If indeed, so be that this comfortable way of cooking [the vegetable has passed from the memory of housekeepers, let us recommend a trial of our recipe, given merely from recollection:—After boiling the cabbage well, place it in a baking pan with layers of crumbled bread; butter, salt and black pepper liberally used, sprinkled well on top with grated cracker, and bake gently until a crust is formed on top. Take our word for it—and we are no mean judge of the creature comforts—it is good for the finest lady that ever fainted at the smell of turpentine soup and then used hair oil.—Petersburg [Va.] Index.

PERIOD OF INCUBATION.—Hens set 21 days, ducks 28 days, geese 30 to 35 days, guinea fowls 28 to 40 days, turkeys 28 days, pea-hens 30 days.

How Weeds are Propagated.

There are several sources from which farmers derive their weeds. One amongst the most prominent is the sowing of foul seeds, such as Clover, Timothy, or even garden seeds. Prof. Buckman discovered in a pint of common clover seed, 70,400 weed seeds; in one pint of dutch clover, (white) 25,560 weed seeds, and in another pint of the same seed, 7,400 weed seeds. This seems almost incredible, but, to any one who has investigated the subject, there is nothing surprising in it. How is this to be remedied? First, it may be partially obviated by purchasing only from reliable seedsmen, and only seed of the very best quality. Second, and the better plan is, for every farmer to procure a number of small sieves of different degrees of fineness. If any of your readers are curious to know how may foul seeds are contained in a peck of clover timothy seed, let him procure a sieve that will not permit the clover or timothy seeds to pass through it, and another, which will just allow their passage. The fine sieve will allow the passage of seeds smaller than clover or timothy, and the coarse one will retain those which are larger. I have made many experiments of this kind, and even in what appeared to be the primest seed, invariably found enough weed seeds to foul any farm on which they would be sown. The same plan should be adopted with garden seeds. The saving in a single season will repay the outlay for sieves more than four fold, and in some cases a hundred fold.

Again, the dunghill is another prolific source of weeds on a farm. Many farmers are in the habit of throwing all the weeds they collect about their farms upon the dunghills. This is an excellent and economic practice, provided they are cut before they have gone to seed. But, unfortunately, weed cutting and gathering is rarely done while the weeds are green, and, as a consequence, the next season their pestivorous seeds are scattered broadcast over the farm with the manure, and, as is to be expected, a harvest of weeds and a heavy outlay of labor is the result. Never throw a weed which has ripened its seeds upon the dunghill.

Let every farmer who desires clean grounds and profitable returns adopt the fixed rule, that "No weeds shall be allowed to perfect their seeds undisturbed." Constant cutting will destroy most persistent perennial, and will certainly eradicate all annual plants. Briars and other bushes, if cut at the season referred to, will soon disappear; and if weedy portions of the farm are mowed or hoed before the plants mature their seeds the result must be their complete eradication.—Hammonton Culturist.

SNOW AS A PROTECTION TO WHEAT.—A correspondent in Tennessee says that wheat in his section does best where there is no snow, especially a variety known as May wheat, and concludes that snow is of little use. In northern regions, where the winters are severe, and the ground freezes deeply, a covering of snow is almost always followed by a crop of wheat, from the protection it affords. Farther South, where the winters are still severe, but where little snow falls, the wheat crop is uncertain; but still farther south, where the winters are mild and the ground freezes but little, as in the region of our correspondent, the protection of snow is not needed. This explains why in a given region winter wheat may be too unreliable to grow with profit, while both to the north and to the south of this region the crop is reliable and profitable.

GARDENING.—We see that some of our citizens are at work in their gardens. The bulbous plants are shooting up green and luxuriant in their hardy growth, despite the rough blasts that a cool season subjects them to. The buds upon the shrubbery are swelling, and evidences are plentiful that the growing season is at hand. We delight in the manifestations of taste in improving private grounds which are everywhere apparent. The time which is employed in this pleasurable occupation is by no means wasted, though no pecuniary profit may be realized. The charm which is thrown around the homes of our people by care and taste in the cultivation of flowers and shrubbery is an ample compensation for all the cost and trouble, to say nothing of the health imparting character of the occupation itself.

A correspondent of the Maine Farmer writes that about sixteen years ago he placed eight trout in a small brook which empties into a pond. For seven or eight years nothing was heard of them, but since that time at least two hundred pounds of excellent trout have been taken every year from the pond. A little attention to this matter would easily propagate fish in many waters comparatively destitute of them.

TO CURE POLL EVIL IN HORSES.—Mix copperas and hog's lard, and simmer over the fire in an iron pot; with this rub the part affected plentifully two or three times a week and let the hot sun drive it in. This application should be made before the disease has gone too far. Mind to keep rubbing, until a cure is affected; it takes time.

THE

INDIAN COMPOUND

Internal and External Medicine,

WILL CURE:

☞ Diarrhœa, Bloody Flux in one day,
☞ Headache and Earache in three minutes.
☞ Toothache in one minute.
☞ Neuralgia in five minutes,
☞ Sprains in twenty minutes,
☞ Sore Throat in ten minutes,
☞ Cholic and Cramp in five minutes,
☞ Rheumatism in one day,
☞ Pain in the Back or Side in ten minutes,
☞ Bad Coughs or Colds in one day,
☞ Fever and Ague in one day.
☞ Cures Deafness, Asthma, Piles,
☞ Bronchitis Affections, Dyspepsia,
☞ Inflammation of the Kidneys, Erysipelas,
☞ Liver Complaint and Palpitation of the Heart.

Keep it in your Families—Sickness comes when least expected.

I propose to check, and effectually dissipate more ache and pain, and to accomplish more perfect equilibrium of all the circulating fluids in the human system, than can be effected by any other, or all other methods of medical aid in the same space of time.

THIS POPULAR REMEDY is fast coming into use, for the fact that I cure, free of charge, all these complaints whenever there is an opportunity to do so. As soon as it is applied it almost miraculously kills the pain. I do not ask you to buy before you are certain of its efficacy. If you have an ache or pain, it is warranted to do all it purports on the label.

I do not propose to cure every disease—only a class named by my directions. My liniment operates on chemical and electric principles, and is, therefore, appliable, to the cure or natural restorative of all organic derangement arising from an improper circulation of the nerve vital fluids.

Prof. J. H. McEntyre's INDIAN COMPOUND acts directly on the absorbents, reducing glandular and other swellings in incredible short time, without any possible danger from its use under any possible circumstances.

This is an internal and external medicine—composed of roots, herbs and barks, such as our forefathers used.—There is a bountiful supply on earth to cure all complaints if we only know what they were.

This has been a great study with the Medical Faculty for many years, to find out the kinds best adapted to the above complaints—how to put them together, and what proportions to use.

PHOTOGRAPH

PATENT APPLIED FOR.

Hitherto there has been nothing introduced in way of a Marriage Certificate that has excited any interest or attraction; but the originators of the PHOTOGRAPH MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE claim that they have gotten up something that will be most heartily welcomed by all persons now married and all those who contemplate marriage.

Size and Plan of the Marriage Certificate.

The size of the Certificate is 10 by 14 inches. It contains a beautiful figure representing the union of two hearts. Above the figure is written in beautifully ornamented German Text the words "Photograph Marriage Certificate." There are three spaces in the figure: on the space in the centre the Certificate proper is written. The words, "two hearts in one" form an arch over the Certificate proper, and immediately under the arch there is a beautiful figure representing the joining of hands, and where the centre space comes to a point there is a picture of two beautiful turtle doves. On the space to the left there is a place for the photograph of the gentleman and under it we have the words, "To the Husband," in ornamental text, under which we have selections of Scripture passages addressed to the husband. On the left side of the engraving we have a place for the Photograph of the wife. Immediately under which we have the words, "To the Wife," in ornamental text, under which are appropriate passages of Scripture addressed to the wife. Over the space for the photograph of gentleman we have written in Old English characters, the following appropriate passage of Scripture: "It is not good that the man should be alone," and over the space for the photograph of the lady, we have the corresponding words: "I will make him an help meet for him." At the lower extension of the figure of the hearts, we have the hearts bound together or encircled in part by these words: "What therefore God hath joined together let no man put asunder." The Certificate is so constructed that card photographs of both bride and bridegroom can be inserted without the least possible difficulty. Indeed everything connected with it is so elegant, attractive and desirable that many single persons seeing the Certificate have been so much pleased with its appearance, that they purchased on sight one of those beautiful parlor ornaments.

A specimen copy of the Photograph Marriage Certificate will be carefully put up and sent by mail free, on receipt of the retail price, which is ONE DOLLAR.

$100 ADDITIONAL BOUNTY!!

NEW BOUNTY LAW PASSED!

Attention, Discharged Soldiers!

The Act of Congress approved July 28, 1866, gives $100 additional bounty to all soldiers who enlisted for three years and were discharged by reason of expiration of service, or who were discharged for wounds received in battle and who have not received more than $100 bounty for such service. An additional bounty of $100 is also allowed to the nearest relative of soldiers who enlisted for a term of three years and who died or were killed in the service, to be paid in the following order: First, to the widow; second, to the children; third, to the father, and fourth, to the mother.

Soldiers' Widows.

By applying to W. H. Woods of Huntingdon, Huntingdon county, Pa., you can have your pensions increased two dollars a month for each and every child you have, and when the widow has married or died, the children are entitled to the increase.

To all who have brought home the bodies of their friends who died or were killed in the service of the United States, there is a certain amount of compensation allowed you for the expenses incurred in bringing home the bodies of your friends, which you can obtain by making application to me.

Invalid Soldiers, Attention!

The act of Congress, approved June 6, 1866, gives additional pensions to the following class of persons:

Soldiers who have lost both eyes or both hands, $25 per month; who have lost both feet $20 per month; who have lost one hand or one foot, or totally disabled in the same, $15 per month.

Persons who have been deprived of their pensions in consequence of being in the civil service of the United States Government, can be restored to the pension roll by applying to me.

Fathers and mothers who were in whole or in part dependent upon their sons for support are entitled to a pension. Also brothers and sisters under sixteen years of age

All discharged soldiers who did not receive transportation to their places of enlistment when discharged, are entitled to receive it; and also all who were held as prisoners of war, and did not receive commutation of rations when released or discharged, are entitled to it.

Officers who were in the service on the 3d of March, 1865, and were discharged after the 9th of April, 1865, by applying to me can receive three months extra pay.

Soldiers of 1812!

All soldiers, or soldiers' widows, of the war of 1812, who have served two months, or been wounded or disabled in such service, if in necessitous circumstances, are entitled to an annuity of $40.

Local Bounty.

All veteran soldiers who gave their credit to districts in the State of Pennsylvania, and who received no local bounty, are entitled to receive three hundred dollars.

All persons having any of the above-mentioned claims, or any other kind of claim against the United States or State Governments, will please address me, giving full particulars, enclosing a stamp for return postage, and they will receive a prompt reply.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebel acts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your fathers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Store on Southeast corner of the Diamond, Huntingdon, Pa.
